CULTURAL SCAVENGER HUNT

Find a photo of an elder family member and ask your caregiver to tell a story about them.

Find a Daruma in your home. Or print/draw one out [HERE] for a window in your home.

Read a book about Japanese American incarceration or watch and listen to this read aloud [HERE]. (Baseball Saved Us read aloud.)

Find a healthy snack and eat it! Drink some water, too!
Find an image of a dragonfly, or tombo, which symbolizes power, victory, and good luck in Japanese culture. Or listen to this song, Akatombo.

Find the names of the Indigenous peoples of the land where you live now on this online map.

Find Japan on a map and if you have Japanese family or ancestors, locate the places where they lived or live on the map.

If you have a printer at home, print out this Black Lives Matter coloring book and explore it with your family.

Write a postcard or letter to a child who is incarcerated. Address: TODEC Legal Center, PO Box 1733, Perris CA 92570

Give someone you love a hug and then give them an appreciation.
